Library and Archives Rights and Reproductions Policy

The Historical Society of Haddonfield (HSH) strives to offer researchers a variety of options for obtaining reproductions of many of our holdings with some restrictions. Researchers who wish to receive or create reproductions of library materials must first submit a completed and signed reproduction request form. The HSH Library and Archives will not permit reproduction of materials in violation of copyright or when a deed of gift restricts the reproduction of a collection. The HSH Library and Archives also reserves the right to refuse requests for copies of items too fragile to be reproduced, for which reproductions are already available in another format (facsimiles or microforms), or for materials it wishes to retain exclusive rights.

Statement on Copyright and Fair Use

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material. Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is not to be "used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research." If a user makes a request for, or later uses, a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," that user may be liable for copyright infringement. This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of copyright law.

Publication and Use

Please note that all reference reproductions are for personal/study use only. The possession of a reproduction of HSH collection materials and the payment of associated reproduction service fees, does not constitute or imply permission to publish or exhibit. It is necessary for researchers to obtain separate, written permission for the publication or exhibition of all material held in the HSH collections. All licenses are for one use only and each additional instance of use must be separately requested in writing. Usage rights fees, above and beyond reproduction costs, may apply and vary depending on whether a reproduction is for an individual, non-profit, or commercial institution and how it will be used (personal research, publication, exhibition, etc.). All reproductions must credit the Historical Society of Haddonfield as the source of the image or document.
