		This small collection of correspondence contains 67 letters written to Betty (Hopkins) Lenhart from 1932-1944, and was found at the home she formerly owned (264 Kings Highway East, Haddonfield). A selection of Lenhart familiy slides and photographs accompanies the letters.
		Collectively, the correspondence forms a narrative that traces the evolution of a young woman on the eve of her marriage into a well-loved wife and mother. By far the most intimate letters are from Betty's husband, David Lenhart. He writes to her almost daily during the summers when she resides in Beach Haven with their young son David while he remains in Haddonfield working. The greatest number of letters are from Betty's grandmother, "Nana." Written from a variety

		This is an artificial collection of family papers, photographs, and genealogical and historical research related to the Gill family of Haddonfield, New Jersey, whose former home is now the headquarters of the Historical Society of Haddonfield. John Gill I (1686-1749) was a cousin and agent for Elizabeth Haddon Estaugh, now celebrated as the founder of Haddonfield, and Gill's family and descendants became major landowners in South Jersey. The bulk of the collection dates from the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries and provides glimpses of the familyâ€ [™] s legal, land, business and farm dealings. The collection also includes some personal correspondence, mostly regarding the 1915 destruction of Ephraim Tomlinson Gillâ€ [™] s Guernsey cattle herd for hoof and mouth disease, and history and genealogy research into

		This is an artificial collection with original documents and more recent genealogy notes and information. The oldest materials include deeds and wills, marriage certificates, and indentures. Documents of interest include the marriage certificate of Joseph Hinchman and Sarah Kaighn signed by William Franklin; the journal of Joseph Mickle Hinchman 1811-1828, including some interesting recipes for elixers and medications; a folder of postcards and history of the Hinchman homestead; and a William C. Hinchman photo album with an index to subjects. The 20th century documents are more diverse, including

		This is an artificial collection of papers related to the Stoy family, and is arranged chronologically from 1822-1880. The early years contain primarily receipts and checks to and from James Stoy. The documents from 1842 on are mainly related to the estates of James Stoy, Philip Stoy, and Samuel Stoy. Includes detailed inventories and appraisals of the estate property. Also includes a folder of notes from Joseph Hartel on the history of the Stoy family and Stoy's landing, circa 1987.

		This collection is primarily legal and financial documents related to the businesses, real estate holdings, and wills of three brothers: Abraham, George and Maurice Browning. All of these properties and businesses were located in Camden, Philadelphia, and other NJ and DE locations.
		None were located in Haddonfield. There are many documents related to the founding and operation of the West Jersey Ferry Company in Camden starting in 1840. The 1861 folder contains a letter written by Abraham Browning with his opinion on the Civil War. The only Haddonfield-related documents are in the 1908-1928 Abbie Doughten
