2016-005	collection	HSH collection on Gill family	genealogical and historical research related to the Gill family of Haddonfield, New Jersey, whose former home is now the headquarters of the Historical Society of Haddonfield. John Gill I (1686-1749) was a cousin and agent for Elizabeth Haddon Estaugh, now celebrated as the founder of Haddonfield, and Gill's family and descendants became major landowners in South Jersey. The bulk of the collection dates from the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries and provides glimpses of the family's legal, land, business and farm dealings. The collection also includes some personal correspondence, mostly regarding the 1915 destruction of Ephraim Tomlinson Gill's Guernsey cattle herd for hoof and mouth disease, and history and genealogy research into the Gill and related families. Full finding aid available: https://haddonfieldhistory.org/wp-content/uploads/2018/11/2016-005_Gill.pdf	1530	1997	7 boxes, 1 flat box, flat files
